

NEW LOOK FOR MAIN STREET—STAR Production Manager Gary Davisson reproduced this visual presentation of the Main Street improvements from the engineers blueprint for the project. The heavy lines at the top and bottom are the building lines along the rear of the sidewalks. The lighter lines depict the curbline. The brick-like effect connecting the curb lines are the crosswalks. The shaded areas are planters. The trees are represented by round designs and circles. The small squares are planters and trash receptacles. The broken angle lines mark the parking spaces. In the upper left corner is the entryway sign which will have the words "MAIN STREET" on two sides. The project is set to get underway Apr. 18 and be finished by July 1 according to City Engineer Roy Stephenson.

Funeral mass for Salvador Zavala, 54, veteran member of the Placentia Unified School District Board of Trustees and a Trustee of the North Orange County Community College District, was held Tuesday morning at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Placentia.

The Rosary Service was conducted Monday night at the church.

Zavala, who had been a trustee of PUSD since 1956, had undergone brain surgery at St. Jude Hospital in Fullerton. Two days following the operation he had lapsed into unconsciousness and later died.

Zavala, who had demonstrated a life-long interest in education, was one of the founders of the St. Joseph Parish School, Placentia and Rosary Catholic High School in Fullerton.

He was one of the individuals selected to launch the North Orange County Community College District and had served on the board since the school's inception. He was immediate past president of the board.

Born in Koehler, New Mexico, Zavala had lived most of his life in this area, returning here after service in the Navy in World War II.

He had attended Fullerton College and was graduated from the Fence Law, City Goof Brings Woes

Acting on information he obtained from the Planning Director's office, Dave Johnson erected a fence on his property at 17831 Caballo, Yorba Linda.

The fence is designed to provide safety for the Johnson children. He spent many dollars and considerable vacation time putting up the fence.

Along came a city inspector and told Johnson the fence would have to be moved back 6.8 feet to comply with the ordinance regarding fences. At that point Johnson had the fence about 70% completed.

He protested that he had followed instructions received at City Hall but was told, in effect, "the law is the law."

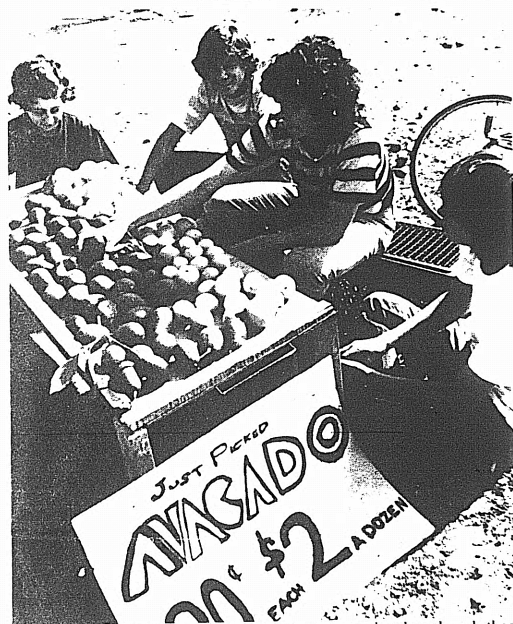

Johnson took his case before the City Council. He said that moving the fence the required distance would cost $1,500 in labor and materials. He added that he had canvassed the neighborhood and there was no opposition to leaving the fence where it was being erected.

Council members questioned Planning Director Phil Paxton about the matter. He said the ordinance was creating problems and that the Johnson case was just the "tip of the iceberg." Paxton said that staff is formulating recommendations to bring before the Planning Commission to amend the ordinance.

After a brief executive session conference with City Attorney Len Hampel, Paxton requested council waive a policy which allows him to grant an adjustment on fences not more than five feet from the property line.

The council, in sympathy with Johnson because he had received erroneous information from staff, directed Paxton to hold an adjustment hearing and grant the policy waiver if circumstances permitted.

Paxton said the adjustment hearing requires only a $5 fee while a variance, if Johnson was made to apply for one, would cost $100.

Laura in OC Pageant

Miss Yorba Linda, Laura Oberjurgue, didn't win the Miss Orange County crown in the recent pageant but "Yorba Linda can be extremely proud that such a girl represents us."

That was the opinion voiced by Anne McGrory, speaking for the local folks who attended the pageant. She said that Laura did "beautifully" in the evening gown, swimsuit and talent portions of the competition.

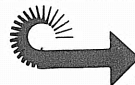

Anne added that the competition was "tough, they had some really great talent. Laura was radiant and looked every inch a queen."

Laura, according to McGrory, enjoyed being in the pageant as she has all the opportunities that she has had in the past year serving as Miss Yorba Linda.

Plans are now being made for the 1977 Miss Yorba Linda Pageant by the Chamber of Commerce who will be announcing the date soon and taking applications for the event.

BY Orchestra in Festival

The Bernardo Yorba Junior High School orchestra which, performing as a band, has won many competition awards this school year, will participate in the first annual Mount Miguel Orchestra Festival.

The orchestra is directed by Dr. Gary Wiedeman.

The Mount Miguel High School Instrumental Music Department intends to sponsor and organize the "Southwest Orchestra Festival." This is the first time such an event will take place in the San Diego area.

Invitations have been sent to California and out-of-state high school orchestras. Thirty-three confirmations have been received, so far, and more are expected. More than 1,000 young musicians will be involved.

The orchestras will perform before highly qualified judges and be scored on musicality, intonation, tone quality, rhythmic accuracy and other aspects that determine the success of their performance.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three orchestras in each of five divisions: two Junior High School, two High School, and one Chamber Orchestra Division.

This event which will be open to the public takes place on April 23rd, at Mount Miguel High School, 1800 Sweetwater Road, Spring Valley, starting at 9 a.m. All award winning orchestras will present a concert that evening at 7:30 p.m.

The California State University at Northridge Orchestra under the direction of Lawrence Christianson will perform at 4:30 p.m. in a special guest appearance.

This orchestra and its director have through the years received nationwide recognition and their participation in this Festival is an indication of the importance of this event.

An admission fee of $1 enables the listener to attend both the afternoon and evening concerts.

Y Century Club

The Yorba Linda YMCA kicked off its Annual Sustaining Membership Contributions drive last week with a dessert for its fund raisers.

Thirty-five active citizens will help the local branch raise the $15,000 necessary to keep a growing YMCA in Yorba Linda. The drive will last throughout the month of April.

The Yorba Linda YMCA serves over 3,000 residents and has an expense budget of $45,000. $30,000 of that is raised through program registrations. The other $15,000 must be raised through sustaining contributions.

The local Y boasts a full time director and full time office at 5035 Lakeview. From this location the YMCA organizes a variety of programs which are held at local facilities all year round, for all ages, both sexes. These include clubs, camps, sports and parent-child programs.

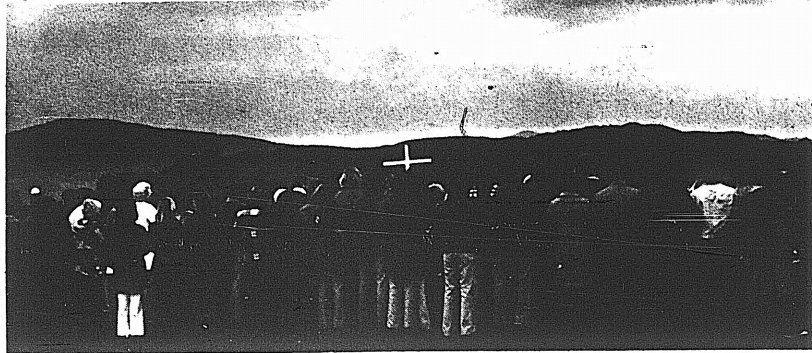

In 1976 over 120 Yorba Linda businesses and individuals contributed $25 or more to the YMCA. Over 80 of those contributed $100 or more to become members of the Century Club and six contributed $250 to become Patron of Youth members.

During the first week of this year's drive 27 have already joined the Century Club (contribution of $100 or more); one, Bisson Insurance has contributed $200 and B & B Pharmacy has given $250.00 to become a Patron of Youth. The Century Club contributors as of April 5th are:

Editorial Opinion

Main St. Metamorphosis

Someone once said, during a certain unsettling period: "A time to try the souls of men" or something to that effect. A favorite spiritual starts out with the line "Nobody knows the troubles I've seen."

Both those quotations would seemingly apply to what lies ahead the next several weeks during the renovation of Main Street.

City Engineer Roy Stephenson is candid about what is facing the merchants and the shopping public. He admits that from the scheduled start of April 18 to the conclusion about July 1, Main Street is going to "be a mess."

The initial 30 to 45 days of work on the street surface will be the most trying period. The present roadway will be torn up and replaced with a new one. Pondered but discarded was a program which might have had the street done one side at a time. The decision was made to do the project as a whole.

Until the new street is in, traffic and parking will be practically non-existent between Imperial and Lemon on Main Street. Walking will be difficult. The entire area will be cluttered with equipment.

Every effort will be made to facilitate access to stores and shops. Some can be reached from rear entrances. But, admittedly, inconvenience will be the rule, rather than the exception.

There are two ways to approach this situation. Everyone concerned can gripe, moan, curse and complain. That won't help but it will sure let everyone know how you feel about it.

Then there is the positive approach. While things will be tough for awhile, Main Street will have a bright new look which should make it more of a pleasure to visit and shop with the merchants in the post-project period.

If the latter follow through on plans to renovate their places of business so that they will have a new look, along with the pleasing effect created by the street work, the lost business during the reconstruction should be more than recouped in the future.

Main Street merchants in many cities and towns have learned the hard way that retaining the status quo is the wrong method in combating the lure of massive and attractive area shopping centers.

Yorba Linda Main Street merchants have the opportunity to capitalize on the improvements and charm of their reconstructed street. We hope that they take advantage of that opportunity.

We've used a quote and a line from a song so now let's close with a cliché that applies to the project about to begin: "Patience is a virtue."

Library Week Activities

Gleaming antique cars, a genealogy workshop, a life saving demonstration for children, plus a "too-new-to-be-advertised" feature film will be among the highlights of the Yorba Linda District Library's celebration of National Library Week, April 18 through April 23.

The Friends of the Library, headed by Pat Baur, will kick off the gala week by serving refreshments on Monday, April 18, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Two slide shows will be shown several times daily during the week. "LOCNET", an inside glimpse of the reference network, will be shown in the preview room and "MISSIONS", the second slide show, will accompany the introduction of the long-awaited brochure on California Missions.

On Tuesday, April 19, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room, Camilla Berger of the Orange County Genealogical Society will conduct an informal workshop on the ins and outs of searching for your roots. Books will be displayed and a bibliography will be available.

Jim Ellis, head of the North Orange County Paramedic team, will speak to the story hour children and their parents on Wednesday, April 20, from 10-11 a.m. and demonstrate some life saving techniques.

Thursday, April 21, from 2-4 p.m., the Friends of the Library will again be serving refreshments and answering questions.

In addition, from 3-7 p.m., photographers will be available in the library to take old fashioned portraits. They will dress their sitters in costume, and for a fee, prepare a simulated tintype.

At 7 p.m. in the Multipurpose room, there will be a free showing of a first-run feature film.

Publicity is not allowed on this bright new comedy musical, so it is suggested that interested persons call the library for information. The telephone number is 528-7039.

April 22, from 9:30-10:45 a.m., Margaret Herron, a sixth grade teacher from Fairmont Elementary School, will bring her class to the Multipurpose room to perform "A Midsummer Night's Dream".

This comedy by Shakespeare will be presented to the fifth and sixth grade classes of the Rose Drive, Linda Vista, Richard Nixon and Mabel Paine Schools.

On Saturday, April 23, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Al Newman of the Historical Vehicle Association, will display a collection of antique cars belonging to members of the association.

At 2 p.m., three short films, "An American Love Affair", "Orphans", and the Laurel and Hardy comedy "Hog Wild" will be shown.

In addition to all the events, a new art reproduction check-out service will be inaugurated. It is also expected that the Adult Services Dept. will register their 10,000th patron since July 1976.

For this fortunate person, congratulations and a prize will be in order. The staff of the Yorba Linda District Library urges everyone to help them celebrate National Library Week.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Y Century Club display their plaques earned last year to publicize the current Sustaining Membership Drive of the local YMCA. Animal Control Program

A city-run program for animal control has been advocated by an Animal Control task force which made its report to the City Council recently.

The report recommends that the program be put into effect in January of 1978.

The program would provide for an animal shelter and animal control officers. It would replace the present program in which Yorba Linda shares an officer with Brea and adjoining county territory.

Mayor Doug Groot was chairman of the task force. At the recommendation of City Administrator Art Simonian council directed staff to include the report recommendations in the proposed 1977-78 budget for discussion and determination on whether or not to establish a city Animal Control Department.

According to the report the department would be financed by retaining the county's annual $10 dog license fee and by adding another $10 fee yearly on agricultural animals. Only one fee per each housing lot with agricultural animals would be levied.

The report asserts that the local program would offer better service than the county. It predicts a $7,000 loss the initial year but a $12,000 profit in succeeding years.

Groot said that if the question of making a profit from fees is legal the extra money could go towards financing trail systems.

The animal control officers are envisioned as personnel who could also have police training, enforce zoning ordinances and other animal ordinances. This would include the handling of large animals, a service not provided under the county program.

Service is predicated on a 24 hour basis in the report. Response time is estimated at 10 minutes in comparison to the 30 minute to two and one-half hours now furnished.

Other aspects of the program would have the control officers available for public education talks to schools and clubs, door-to-door checks on unlicensed dogs and providing medical care for animals.

Animal owners would have the opportunity to make telephone checks on lost animals. A log would be kept at the shelter detailing impounds and found deceased animals.

There is only one other municipal animal shelter in Orange County. Several communities have their own animal control programs.

Street Projects

Bids on two street projects were awarded by the City Council last week. One was for improvements on Lakeview Avenue and the other for Prospect Avenue, southeast corner of Buena Vista and Highland and Eureka Avenue.

Sully Miller was the low bidder on the Lakeview project. The firm bid it at $194,469.10. This was more than $14,760 above the City Engineer's estimate of the cost.

The low bid on the other project was submitted by Aman Brothers. The amount of $38,712.20 was almost $4,200 more than the estimate.

Little Bits

Mr. Rogers is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers; four sisters, Karen, Beverly, Theresa of Yorba Linda and Jean Davis of Fullerton; one brother, Ronald of Orange. Mock and 75 other members of the JMI Team will ship 45 bikes in a truck to the site with another 25 or more persons accompanying the riders to the event. Winners in Utah will qualify for the nationals in Pennsylvania in September where Mock won in the 370 cc class last year.

Police Beat

Sunday, April 10

Easter means different things to different people.

To someone it meant a set of auto headlamps. That--at least--is what he stole Sunday morning from the car of Richard L. Everett of Placentia while the vehicle was parked in the lot at Rose Drive Friends Church and while Everett was attending services inside. Loss was put at $150.

Saturday, April 9

Sometime after 2 p.m. last Friday two youths apparently broke into the home of Mary Ellen Bisson, 5501 Grandview, Yorba Linda, stealing $2 cash from the house and Bisson's 1973 Plymouth from the garage.

But the loss was soon recovered. Twenty-four hours later the youngsters, described as white, male, 17-18 year old, were seen abandoning the vehicle in the parking area at Casitas Yorba Linda Apartments, 18700 Yorba Linda Blvd.

Tuesday, April 5

Stereo tapes numbering 72 and valued at $576 were stolen Monday night last week from the van of Charles J. Baker, 18700 Yorba Linda Blvd., Yorba Linda.

Between Tuesday afternoon and the previous Thursday the garage of David E. Daw, 19825 Burlleigh, Yorba Linda, was unencumbered of $550 worth of tools by parties unknown.

Monday, April 4

Burglars took the home of Deanna Lynn Martin, 19131 La Pradera, Yorba Linda, for a $1,100 loss Monday night. Items taken included radios, television sets, and a sewing machine.

Tee Up

Burt Brooks

YORBA LINDA COUNTRY CLUB members received some good news last week when the club owners told of the addition of 12 golf clubs where its members may play without paying greens fees.

Members who own a full family membership and pay dues at Yorba Linda may now play (during the week, except on holidays) at any of several golf courses.

Six are private country clubs and include Elkhorn in Stockton, Sunset Hills in Thousand Oaks, Mountain Gate in West Los Angeles, Via Verde in San Dimas, Lake Arrowhead at Lake Arrowhead and Escondido Country Club.

Public courses which can also be played without the payment of greens fees are Tilden in Berkeley, Riverside in San Jose, Camarillo Springs in Camarillo, Golden Hills in Tehachapi, Meadowlark in Huntington Beach and Rancho San Joaquin in Irvine.

It is good for one's golf game to play other golf courses, and many players make a practice of doing so, but when you pay dues at your home course, you are not too eager to pay $10 or more greens fee for a game elsewhere.

Things have now changed for Yorba Linda Country Club members, which helps prove the old saying "Time, patience and perseverance will accomplish all things."

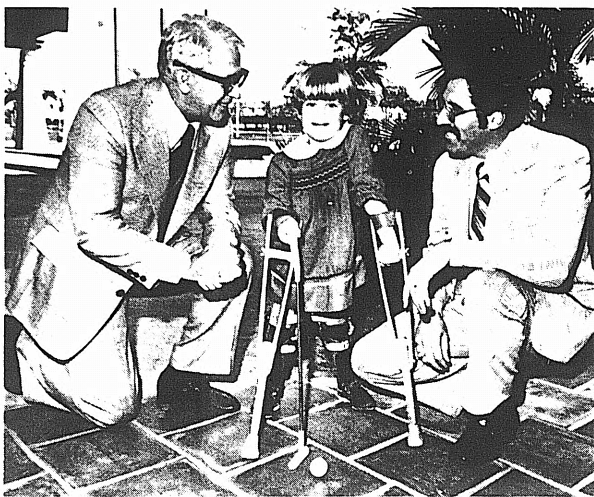

Senior golfers at Yorba Linda C.C. are in the midst of their annual championship and I will try to bring the names of winners to you next week.

CALIFORNIA GOLF WRITERS ASSOCIATION will hold their annual election, golf tournament, and awards banquet at SUNNYSIDE COUNTRY CLUB in Fresno on Monday, May 2nd.

Among the awards presented at the annual meeting is the GOLDEN STATE AWARD, given to a person who has a record of distinguished service to the Game of Golf.

Distinguished service and sportsmanship are difficult to define precisely. People deserving recognition are quite often the kind of people who would rather go unnoticed.

POSTER GIRL for the March of Dimes, fetching four-year-old Marlee Watz of Mission Viejo visited Placentia City Hall last week to launch Placentia's third annual March of Dimes Golf Championships. Monday, April 25 is the designated day. With Marlee are City Administrator Edwin Powell and James Buchner, head of the city's commercial and industrial resources division.
